

Questions for Designing Project Based Learning
Tracy Dalton
April 27, 2011

What is Project-Based Learning?
How do I design and structure project-based learning?
How do I assess project-based learning?
Where can I find resources to help me?

Resources:

Project Based Learning

<http://pbl-online.org/pathway2.html>

Buck Institute for Education – Project Based Learning

<http://www.bie.org/>

Galileo Network - Galileo supports teachers to design inquiry-based projects in which students use the digital technologies of their time in creative and thoughtful ways.

<http://www.galileo.org/index.html>

Concept to Classroom – Project Based Learning

<http://www.thirteen.org/edonline/concept2class/inquiry/>

Focus on Inquiry – Alberta Education

<http://education.alberta.ca/media/313361/focusoninquiry.pdf>

Assessment in CTS

<http://www.innovativelearning.ca/sec-21century/cts-assessment.asp>

The Centre for Leadership in Learning at McMaster University (McMaster CLL)
Inquiry and Problem based learning

<http://cll.mcmaster.ca/resources/inquiry.html#Problem>

Table outlining the differences between problem-based and inquiry learning.

http://cll.mcmaster.ca/resources/misc/whats_unique_about_inquiry.html

Project Based Learning at High Tech High

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xfP53Alnbhk>