About the session:

Looking for ideas to increase your student's confidence and competence in Physical Education and physical activity? Want to come away with resources and support for teaching Fundamental Movement Skills (FMS)? Using the ABCD's of Physical Education and the philosophy of Physical Literacy, attendees will walk away from this Webinar with the tools to teach a variety of Fundamental Movement Skills (FMS), particularly Locomotor Skills. The FMS provide the basic motor skills that are the foundation to all later movement in life whether sport specific, active living or recreation.

Attendees will learn about:

- Ever Active School
- Physical Literacy (PL)
- Teaching FUNDamental Movement Skills (FMS)
- Object Manipulative Skills
- Resources and support for PL/FMS

About the facilitator:

Ever Active Schools (EAS) facilitators are engaging, dynamic and have received training to deliver Fundamental Movement Skills workshops supported by Canadian Sport for Life and the National Coaching Certification Program. Sessions are designed with the Physical Education and Health curriculum in mind and there is a natural link to Daily Physical Activity.

Participants leave EAS sessions with the resources, activities and support needed in their teaching.
