Who should attend?

K-6 educators who are interested in building their SMART Notebook skills and working with a group of other K-6 educators to create and share a bank of resources for use on the SMART Board.

About the session: Participation in this cohort will require teachers to commit to the following:

Attending and participating in a series of 5 webinars, held on (September 28, October 5, 19, November 2, 16) from 4:00-5:30 that cover the following Notebook skills:

- SMART Board fundamentals
- Notebook Toolbar Part 1
- Notebook Toolbar Part 2
- Introduction to the Notebook Gallery
- Advanced Features and Resources

In each of the two face-to-face sessions, participants will be expected to create 1-2 SMART Notebook lesson resources (consisting of a minimum of 4 pages) that they will be required to share with all other participants in the cohort group.

About the facilitator:

Candace Beaton is a former educator with the Calgary Board of Education and a former Certified Education Consultant for SMART Technologies Inc. In 2010, Candace launched Teaching Smart, a professional development company whose main goal is to provide relevant, curriculum-based workshops to educators using SMART products in their classrooms.
