About the session:

The SMART Board is an effective tool for engaging students in instruction. This session will focus on using the SMART Board and SMART Notebook software in engaging ways. This session is designed for education professionals in Division 1 classrooms that have a basic introductory understanding of this tool, yet would like to spend more time learning how to use, build and create engaging and interactive lessons with their SMART Board. Participants will be able to network with other Division 1 colleagues to find out how they can use the SMART Board effectively. Time during this session will be given for participants to begin creating and developing ways to use these digital tools in a powerful instructional way the following week with their students!

About the facilitator:

Mark McWhinnie Mark has a background in both education and technology as a school technology contact, teacher, principal and now senior leader in the district office. Mark has been involved in numerous training and deployments of educational technologies with educational professionals over the past 13 years. Mark currently works as the Director of Technology Integration in Wolf Creek Public Schools. His work involves assisting teachers and educational assistants to purposefully integrate digital tools to support instruction in powerful ways. This work enhances 21st century classroom learning opportunities for all learners.
